

Cornell University Graduate Linkage (CUGL) Program

A program jointly administered by Weill Cornell Medical College (WCMC) and Graduate School of Medical Sciences (WCGS) and Cornell University Graduate School (CU-I).

The goals of the Cornell University Graduate Linkage (CUGL) program are to:

- Short-Term Program (1 or 2 semesters): enable students from either campus to spend one or two semesters on the other campus, learning skills or working with specific faculty, much in the spirit of a laboratory rotation.
- Long-Term Program (more than 2 semesters): enable students from either campus to spend more than two semesters on the other campus in order to engage in a research project with specific faculty members from the other campus. A student's primary mentorship and research emphasis is expected to remain at the home campus (i.e., this is not designed to be a de facto transfer). All participants in the Long-Term Program will be required to submit an annual report to the CUGL Program to request approval for continued participation.

1. Eligibility and Application Procedure

Eligibility:

- A student must be in good academic standing enrolled in full-time Ph.D. graduate studies at CU-I or WCGS, with a full thesis committee having passed the requirements to pursue full-time dissertation work.
- A WCGS, WCMC, or CU-I host-faculty sponsor must be designated and will be responsible for the student during his/her residence at the host campus. Both the host-faculty sponsor and the home-faculty advisor need to sign the application form.
- For the Long-Term Program only, a student must have an approved plan to meet all PhD requirements. For Cornell-Ithaca students, the plan must specifically identify the special committee and described the anticipated timeline for study at Weill.

Application Documents- The CUGL application is below. It contains a list of required attachments, which must be bundled together with the application as a single PDF.

Notification Requirements:

- A minimum of one semester's notification is required to participate in the CUGL program.
- After submission of the application and related documents, the student will be advised of his or her acceptance into the CUGL program.
- Students and their advisors on both campuses should review the CUGL Post-Acceptance Student Procedures. Please go to the intercampus website to obtain a copy of these procedures and to review them as part of this application process.

2. Registration and in-absentia Fees

Ithaca CUGL students must register through the Department Administrator of the host-faculty sponsor's Weill Cornell department as a Visiting Graduate Student.

During the duration of their residence, CU-I Linkage students will be required to register in absentia with the Graduate School (CU-I). CU-I students approved for CUGL will be charged in absentia fees of $200 per semester. The in-absentia fees for CU-I CUGL students will be paid by the student or the PI. CU-I tuition will not be charged to CU-I students in WCM as part of the CUGL Program.

3. Security and Identification Cards

CUGL students should obtain host campus ID cards to facilitate access to all host campus services and buildings. This should be done as part of the process of registering as a Visiting Graduate Student through HR.

In an emergency, WCM and CU-I need to be able to reach all students on and off campus. Please always maintain an updated cell phone number and alternate email address.
